

HANNANPRINT NSW QUALITY CONFIRMED ON THE INTERNATIONAL STAGE

Hannanprint NSW has been recognised for Excellence in Print Craftsmanship by the IAPHC International Gallery of Superb Printing above thousands of printers from across the globe.

The IAPHC is a North American based printing and graphic arts industry association, also known as the Graphic Professionals Resource Network. Its mission is to educate, promote, inform and connect its members and the global graphic community, fostering their growth and success.

Every year, the IAPHC recognises excellence in print craftsmanship from around the globe across various categories and showcases award winning work in its International Gallery of Superb Printing.

The International Gallery of Superb Printing has become one of the premier printing events in the world.

Due to numerous local galleries, an increase in club participation, entries received from around the world, and the Best of the Best Awards Ceremonies at the IAPHC Annual Convention, the total number of entries received has increased as individuals and companies vie for world-wide recognition.

Despite the increased number of entries, the established pedigree as Australia's most awarded offset printer resulted in the IAPHC seeking Hannanprint NSW out to enter submissions in the International Gallery of Superb Printing this year.

With over 2,250 entries from many nations and several continents, Hannanprint NSW won a total of four awards including two gold awards from four entries.

Hannanprint NSW won a Gold Award for both the Good Weekend, March 10 2007 and the Wentworth Courier June 13 2007; as well as a Bronze Award for the Southern Courier June 12, 2007 and an Honourable Mention for the Good Weekend May 5 2007.

This achievement is quite a significant benchmark, confirming that the Hannanprint NSW quality standard not only leads to Australian market but is also rated very highly in the international arena.
